This is a project, moreover, that is made of components that directly benefit the people in the area since it includes many income generating mechanisms. These include opportunities to sell organic fruit and vegetables, establishment of a marketing complex with restaurants and stalls for fresh produce as well as traditional arts and crafts.